Peter

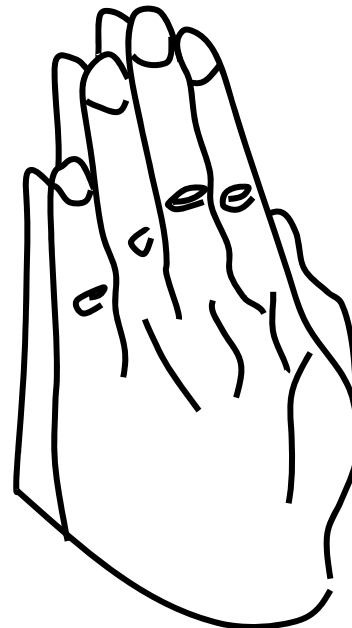

Peter Goes to Prison

This book belongs to:

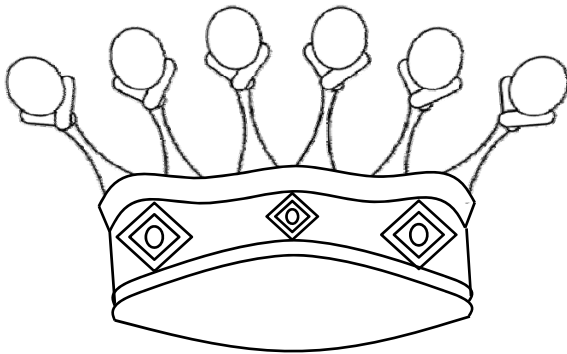

What do you pray to God about?

There are many spots in the bible that we are told by God to pray. We are supposed to pray to God about everything, all the time, and without stopping.

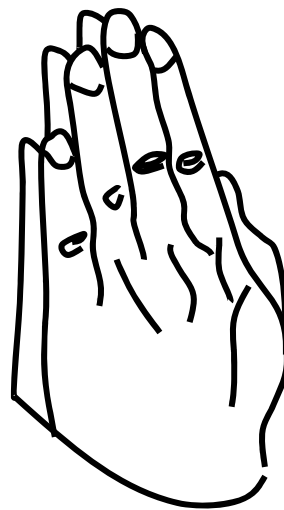

Print double sided. Cut on the red lines. Fold on the dotted lines.

Herod was king during Jesus' time. King Herod did not like the Christians, and Peter was in prison.

God wants you to pray to him all the time. He wants you to talk with him all the time, and that doesn't mean just asking for things. We can talk to God about our friends, our parents, school, church, and anything else in our lives.

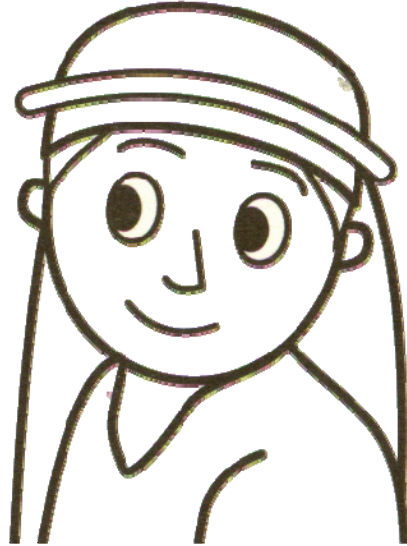

If you pray for a pony, do you think God will give you a pony?

If you ask God for a dolphin as a pet, do you think God will give you a pet dolphin?

10

Peter's friends prayed to God. They prayed that Peter would get released from prison. Peter probably prayed to be released from prison too.

3

Even if we do not know what it is someone needs, we are still supposed to pray.

8

God heard Peter's prayers. God's answer to his prayer was not what Peter and his friends expected though.

Even though they prayed, they probably didn't think Peter would be released from prison. They just knew that they were supposed to pray, all the time.

4

Peter was released from prison, and he probably prayed to be released.

We do not always get what we pray for. God gives us what we are supposed to have, and that might not be what we want.

9

God sent an angel, and the angel released Peter from prison.

6

Peter went to where his friends were. They were very surprised to see him.
